

YOUR HOME TOWN

THE FAULT-FINDERS.
We notice where some critics are finding fault with the new dollar bill. The only fault we can find with the new bills is the fact there's not enough of them.

"DOLLING UP."
Kali Woods, owner and proprietor of Wood's cafe, just across the street from our office, is having a new store front put in. We don't know why Friend Kali got so energetic all of a sudden, but perhaps it was because this office recently "dolled up" its front and was repainted. At any rate, we congratulate him and hope that others over the city will follow suit and will repaint and remodel their places of business as well as their homes.

USING PAINT.
What a waste of a difference a few cans of paint, in the hands of a painter will make in the looks of a home. A nice fresh coat of paint will make your home look like new and where is the citizen, who owns a home, who will not expand his chest several inches with pride after his home has been remodeled and repainted? If your home needs repainting now is an ideal time to do the work. The cost is small, when we think of the improved appearance and enhanced value our home will have when the work is completed.

ANOTHER REVIVAL.
Down at Allen, the Christian church will begin a revival tomorrow (Thursday) Sept. 19. The pastor of that church is Rev. A. L. Clinkenshaw. He will be assisted in the revival by Rev. George Dickenson and Leslie Bradley. You have a cordial invitation to attend.

PROGRESS MADE.
While we're speaking of revivals, don't forget that you have a standing invitation to attend the meeting now in progress at the First Methodist church, this city. From the manner in which the revival got started, it looks as though some profitable results will be attained.

THANKS.
We are thankful to the athletic publicity department of Southern Methodist university, Dallas, for an official 1929 Southwest conference football schedule card, which includes the entire fall schedule of the following teams: S. M. U., Dallas; University of Texas, Austin; Texas A. & M., College Station; Baylor university, Waco; T. C. U., Fort Worth; Arkansas university, Fayetteville; Rice institute, Houston.

"BIG DOINGS."
"Big doings" are promised visiting editors who will assemble in Terrell, Texas, Friday, Sept. 20, to attend the session of the Northeast Texas Press association. A letter we have received from Horace Thomas, secretary of the Terrell Chamber of Commerce, says, in part: "Let no trifling excuse, flimsy pretext or ordinary obstacle prevent your being present; for if you do, you will not live long enough to cease regretting it." The Terrell Daily Tribune will issue a "press section" of the visiting editors the day the association meets there.

CAREFULNESS.
In the Spring column of the Sherman Daily Democrat, we read the following terse paragraphs concerning the motorists and their carefulness in driving while the school children are on their way to their schoolrooms. Says the Democrat: "School days should be caution days for motorists, particularly those who drive on the city streets at certain periods of the day. More than three thousand school children create an element of hazard that is likely to face an automobile driver in any part of the city. If we will but stop to think what that means, those three thousand and more children on the streets, we will be more careful in our driving."

Most of us, however, never think of it. Seeing groups of children on the sidewalks and in the streets at crossing does not arouse any feelings of regard for their safety, that is it does not with many. If you will watch the new "slow" signs in the middle of the streets at the schools, you will notice most of the cars fly by, some passing the others in all disregard of signs of caution. Parents of children in the early school age will likely have the safety of their own boy and girl in their minds and will exercise caution, but the rest of us speed on without concern except for occasional glances in the rear-view mirror to make sure the motorcycle policeman is not following us, for we are usually past the "twenty" mark on the speedometer.

It might be well for the city to have a policeman stationed at intervals at the various schools, at no regular time except at the period when the boys and girls are going to and from school. It is to be hoped

DALLAS LOCAL NEWS ITEMS OF 55 YEARS AGO

ONIONS MADE 200 BUSHELS PER ACRE AND SOLD $2.00 PER BUSHEL

Counties scattered about through North Texas have been producing onions in commercial quantities more or less of the time for the last half century or longer. This is indicated by a news item that appeared in the old Dallas Herald of September 15, 1874, as reprinted in the "Fifty-Five Years Ago" column of the Dallas News which reads: "A man near this city gathered 800 bushels of onions from six acres of land and sold the onions last week at $2 per bushel." From another interesting local news item in the same old Dallas newspaper printed the next day, were these: "Each pair of street car mules now make seventeen miles per day; prairie chickens are now sold two for two bits." And still another interesting item in that old newspaper reads: "200 guinea hens were bought in this city yesterday on speculation at 10 cents each."

Hon. Sam Bateman Will Serve Free To Correct Blunder

It begins to look like something is going to be done to correct the blunder that has caused so much trouble for our old Confederate veterans. Legislators, who realize the great injustice that was done them, though it was not intentional, are now volunteering to go to Austin and in special session make proper revision of the bill. Hon. Sam Bateman of Celina has written the following letter:

MR. BATEMAN'S LETTER
Celina, Texas.
W. A. Williamson,
Senator 26th, District,
San Antonio, Texas.
Dear Senator:

In reply to your letter suggesting that we have a special session of the Legislature immediately for the purpose of rectifying our pension laws, I am willing to come to Austin at my own expense and serve in a special session for the purpose or making the necessary correction. Think it would be well to urge the Governor to submit some plan by which it can be done in his call.

With kindest personal regards, I am,
Yours very truly,
SAM E. BATEMAN,
Local Representative District No. 43, Collin County.

Mrs. Glenn Priece and Mrs. Henry Moore and little daughter, Mary Lois, all of Dallas, were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ownbey in this city.

that this will be taken as a warning and that, if policemen are stationed at the schools, they will find all is well.

DAUGHTER MR. AND MRS. W. M. NORRIS, BORN AT RHEA MILLS
Mrs. C. N. Malone of this city received a phone message announcing the death of Mrs. Clara Sanders, aged about 24, at 8 o'clock (Wednesday) morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. East Collin Made Good Honey This Year
Farmersville section's honey crop has been marketed the past week and has brought quite a bit of change into the pockets of the beekeepers of this community. The crop is somewhat better than last year and will run above 75,000 pounds. The producers are realizing 12¢ per pound for the honey, which is of a very fine quality.

Among the larger beekeepers are J. T. Gooch and E. R. Gooch, who this year produced 28,000 lbs. each. Other beekeepers who are building up fine apiaries are Jack Chapman, Haywood Hickley and Miss Alline Gooch. These have produced a good crop of honey this season.—Farmersville Times.

Death Of Twin Daughter Of Wm. Bacon

Mrs. J. L. Lancaster Jr., wife of a Fort Worth lawyer, was buried Saturday afternoon in Dallas. Mrs. Lancaster was formerly Miss Dell Bacon, one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bacon of 3625 Beverly Drive, Dallas, Texas. She was one of Dallas' most popular debutantes of only two seasons ago. She was only 22 years old and died in New York of inflammation of the outer tissues of the brain caused from an attack of influenza suffered last December. She was visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Miller Gould in New York City, when she took worse and died.

The Bacon family have many McKinney friends and acquaintances, where they often visited. The death of this beautiful, cultured young woman causes much sorrow among the many friends of the family in McKinney and other parts of the state.

HOW RED CROSS NUTRITIONIST AIDS SCHOOL CHILDREN

With the co-operation of McKinney dentists, eye, ear, nose and throat specialists and general practitioners, the Red Cross nutritionist, the Red Cross nutritionist serves the physical welfare of our school children. Mrs. Dan W. Scott, chairman of the nutrition committee of the Collin County Red Cross chapter, is much pleased at the good work done in this co-operation of parents and doctors with this important Red Cross activity. This special nutrition work will be put on in the McKinney schools again on January 1.

In carrying on this work, doctors and dentists hold clinics for the benefit of the children. A very large per cent of them are usually found to need medical, surgical or dental attention.

Recommendations are made to the parents, who then take their children to the family physician or specialist to have their tonsils and adenoids removed, their eyes refracted, their ears treated or given any other special attention where defects or ailments are revealed.

When you support the annual Red Cross roll call, which will be held in this county during the month of November, you will be helping your children and children of your neighbor, in a physical way to develop into more healthful men and women and at the same time where physical defects are corrected mental development is aided and the human race is benefited beyond measure to compute. Everybody should, therefore, be interested in Red Cross activities and at least respond to the coming annual roll call with your membership.

Miss Martha Walde has entered T. C. U. in Fort Worth. Miss Walde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Walde and was a graduate of the Boyd High school this past spring.

"DANGER OF DISCOURAGEMENT" IS SUBJECT OF EVANGELIST MORGAN; AT REVIVAL HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Wednesday night was steward's at the First Methodist church revival, it being the fourth day of the two weeks' meeting at that McKinney church. Thursday night was Sunday school teachers' and workers' night, Friday night Woman's Missionary society and Social Workers' night and Saturday night country folks' night.

These nights were so designated by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Old, preceding the evening preaching services Tuesday night. In addition to the scores of others present it is hoped that the above-named groups will make special efforts to be present in large numbers on their special nights.

There were many visitors from other churches of the city at Tuesday night's services. When the Baptists in the congregation were asked to raise their hands a large group all over the house did so. The same was true of the Christians and Presbyterians.

Glad to See Young People.

"I am glad to see so many young people," the evangelist remarked. "Come yourself and bring the children and babies with you."

Morning services Tuesday were held at 10 o'clock at the church with a good attendance for a morning service and splendid interest shown.

Rev. Allen Roe, the singer and young people's worker, sang a solo at the evening preaching hour.

Reports coming from the twenty-eight groups or blocks into which the city has been divided stated that the group meetings held in each district Tuesday afternoon were well attended. A woman captain has been placed in charge of each group.

Group Meetings Grow.

Reports were heard Tuesday night from the four group meetings held at 7 o'clock, half an hour preceding the evening preaching hour. At the intermediate meeting, Prof. J. T. (Doc) Rollins was present and made a splendid talk to a large group. The manner in which he discussed his subject and the simple, but precise way in which the facts were disclosed, caused everyone hearing him to get a renewed courage in this life. Prof. Rollins is vocational-

STREETS OF CITY OF PARIS FLOODED BY DOWNPOUR ACCOMPANIED BY HAIL; EMERGENCY RELIEF CORPS BEING HASTILY ORGANIZED.

Paris, Sept. 18.—Emergency relief corps were being hastily organized today to aid the victims of violent storms which swept all France during the last twenty-four hours and killed at least seven persons.

Scores were left homeless in the Provinces as a result of the worst deluge which has struck the country in years. Telegraph and telephone communications were disrupted, trains were delayed and shipping along the Mediterranean and the English Channel was disorganized.

After hours of near-cyclonic conditions in the outlying districts the downpour struck Paris with full force last night, accompanied by thunder, lightning and hail. Streets were flooded and traffic was temporarily disrupted. Thousands of persons strolling along the boulevards when the torrential rains descended were drenched.

Property damage in the Provinces amounted to many millions. The worst known loss of life was suffered at Toulouse and vicinity, where four persons drowned when the rivers overflowed. In the vicinity of Ajaccio, capital of Corsica, three apartment houses were washed under and collapsed, killing two persons and injuring three others.

O. B. Coleman and wife, a highly esteemed old couple residing in their home in West McKinney, are still in feeble health, but able to be up and about. Mrs. Coleman is able to do her own work, but her husband is not strong enough to do anything. He was recently able, however, to walk a block to the home of his brother-in-law, J. M. Crockett and wife. Mr. Coleman owns a good farm in the Walnut Grove community where he was reared. His son, James Coleman, and wife live on his farm and run it.

JAKE HARVELL, 25, DIES AT M'KINNEY HOME ON TUESDAY

PARENTS PRECEDED HIM IN DEATH; FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY

Jake Harvell, 25 years 3 months and 22 days old, died Tuesday night at his home in the cotton mill section of the city. The deceased had been in ill health since March of this year.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock (Wednesday) afternoon at the King Memorial Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. I. D. Wallace, burial following in Pecan Grove cemetery.

The parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Harvell, both preceded him to the grave and are buried in Pecan Grove cemetery.

The deceased is survived by two brothers and three sisters: Tom Harvell of Gunter, Charlie Harvell, whose address is unknown; Mrs. Charlie Mays and Misses Bessie and Lois Harvell at home. He is also survived by his grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Malone, of this city.

The Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Dr. Edwin W. Burton Returns Home From Kerrville

Dr. Edwin W. Burton arrived home Wednesday morning from Kerrville, where he had been for several weeks taking the rest cure in that higher altitude. Dr. Burton, who is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Burton, is a native McKinney boy, who has superbly qualified himself for the practice of medicine along special lines—eye, ear, nose and throat. A few months ago, while practicing in New York City, his health gave way under the long strain of study and hard practice, and he had to return to his home in Texas to rest and recuperate. All of his old home friends are delighted to note the great improvement that has already been made in his health and hope for his continued improvement.

Charles L. Cockrell, our Murphy correspondent, was in McKinney Wednesday morning en route to Celina as a messenger to the annual meeting of the Collin County Baptist association in session there.

"Be strong. There is no place in God's kingdom for cowards and the faint-hearted. The Christian life is an accumulative life. Live it and you will be certain of being on the road to heaven."

"Make us strong men and women for the task before us and make us impervious to criticism," the evangelist prayed.

Uses Illustrations.

Rev. Mr. Morgan used many illustrations to point out his subject, in a clear, comprehensive and understandable manner.

"Your discouragements are a temptation," said the evangelist and he closed by appealing to his hearers to live the life God would have us live, despite the many discouragements coming our way.

Congressman O. J. Kvale, 60, Far-burned to death Tuesday night when gressman Kvale was a Lutheran minister who came into fame by defeating Congressman Andrew J. Volstead from the seventh Minnesota district for re-election in 1922. Volstead was the author of the cele-

PREPARING FOR THE FAIR.

It is now time for our merchants to begin to think about decorating their stores and show windows for the county fair, which is to be held in McKinney October 7, 8, 9 and
10. The town should be becomingly decorated for this affair which will draw attendance and many visitors from every part of the county and from adjacent counties. McKinney should gaily welcome the thousands of guests who will be within its gates on those four important dates to remember.

Keith Clevenger, publicity and advertising director of the American Gas association, in an address to the Pacific Coast Gas association said that newspaper advertising surpasses all other forms of displaying knowledge to the public. He further said that: "As long as people strive for intelligent information on current happenings, newspapers will be read by the vast majority," he said. "As long as the present traditions of the major portion of the American press for editorial honesty and impartial news service are maintained, newspapers will continue to be the most effective advertising media for American business."

OLD MAN TEXAS.

Dr. John Knott, noted Dallas Morning News cartoonist, had an unusually pleasing cartoon to look upon in Tuesday's issue of that greatest among all southern metropolitan newspapers. The subject of this timely cartoon was "Old Man Texas," proudly standing erect between an oil well derrick and a white cotton field with a well-filled sack slung across each shoulder.
With his left hand he was gathering in one sack of dollars as they poured over the top of the oil derrick, while with his right hand he was nimbly reaching out with his fingers and filling the other sack with dollars from the fleecy sheep. His cotton sack was labelled "$625,000,000 Annual Production."

ALLEN SCHOOL LOOKS FORWARD TO GOOD YEAR

Prof. O. L. Barker, principal of the Allen public school, was an interested attendant at the two-day Collin County Teachers' institute held here Thursday and Friday of the past week, at the First Baptist church presided over by Prof. S. C. Stephens, county school superintendent.

Teachers in the Allen school are: Prof. O. L. Barker, superintendent, history and mathematics. Miss Gladys Duff, English and Latin. Miss Ivan Perry, seventh grade. Miss Edna Weaver, sixth grade. Mrs. C. L. Harrington, fourth and fifth grade. Miss Gladys Watson, second and third grade. Miss Vivian Compton, primary and first grade. Miss Compton was the only teacher from Allen who could not attend the institute, having accompanied her father, Dr. Compton, to Dallas, who was ill.

The Allen school began what promises to be its most successful school year last Monday morning, with a greater enrollment than usual. Others will enter that school, Prof. Barker says, as soon as the cotton picking season is over. Allen enjoys one of the best schools to be found anywhere for a town of its size and with such capable teachers and instructors they are looking forward to another profitable year during 1929 and 1930.

Whitesboro.—Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Darby and family moved to McKinney Monday, where the Rev. Darby has accepted the pastorate of the North Baptist church.

The Rev. Darby has been pastor of the local Baptist church for the past twenty-five months, and during this time 119 persons have been received into membership of the church. U. with enrollment of 90 with average attendance of 50, has had five active departments as follows: One senior, two adult, two intermediate and one junior.

An outstanding feature of Rev. Darby's pastorate here was dedication of the church building Dec. 30, 1925. More than $2,000 indebtedness on the church property has been liquidated during his two years of ministry. During a recent ten days revival, there were 33 conversions of faith with 200 additions to the church membership. Rev. Darby was a member of the executive board of the Grayson county association, Mrs. Darby, having had special training in sacred work of the church, was active in all departments.

A baptismal service was held at the church Sunday night, closing Rev. Darby's work here.

B. TIDWELL AND WILL RHEA ARE ROTARY SPEAKERS

Joe Grissom, a late addition to the club roster, was chairman of the Rotary program committee at Friday's noonday luncheon. He presented Miss Sara Abernathy, a gifted young McKinney reader and pupil of Miss Nina Thompson, whose number elicited hearty applause from the men. Miss Sara was followed by Bolivar Tidwell, the jeweler member of the club, who spoke on his classification.

Rotarian Tidwell captivated his fellow Rotarians with the thorough manner which he covered his business and the intimate knowledge he gave of the development of timepieces—our watches and clocks. To trace the history of time is only to trace the history of the human race. Man in every age tried to measure time in some way. The first man to keep time was back 4,000 years before Christ, at a period when the old priests of Babylon studied the moon and the stars and worked out a thirteen-month year calendar, having four equal weeks to the month. The unfolding of time witnessed the development of making and perfecting timepieces, until at the present time American factories are making 19,000 watches per day, while American imports amount to 16,500 watches a day, making a total of 35,000 watches that the American people are buying every working day of the year. Probably few people know that Henry Ford, a watchmaker by trade, got his idea of large scale production from the factory of the Ingersoll watch that "made the dollar famous."

Carlsbad Cavern.
Rotarian Will J. Rhea, wife and son, Will J. Jr., recently returned from an extended motor trip through several states, including a stop and very interesting visit to the Carlsbad Cavern, located in twenty-eight miles of the pretty little city of Carlsbad, New Mexico.

By request of the program chairman of the day, Rotarian Bill talked about five minutes on the Carlsbad cavern, which was discovered twenty-seven years ago by a cow-puncher by the name of Jim White, who was riding by on his cow pony late one evening and was attracted to the spot by millions of bats emerging from its opening. The cave and surrounding rugged territory has been acquired by the federal government and converted into a national park. The greatest depth of the cave below the surface is 675 feet, which has been explored for seven and one-half miles. Its interior is made up of passageways and a series of subterranean chambers. Some of the rooms have low ceilings, while others have ceilings fifty and sixty feet high. The stalactites and stalagmites, formed by the dripping of water and mineral erosion through the gates, form gorgeous spectacles. The government has rangers stationed in the entrance and along through the passageways as guides for the visitors of whom there are hundreds every day. The cave entrance is made at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the journey through the cave and back to the entrance again is concluded at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Two dollars per person is charged visitors. They are guided by intellectual men who explain as they go along, at a dining room four miles under. At noonday a lunch can be obtained ground at the cost of seventy-five cents for two sandwiches, a cup of coffee and an orange. On the day that Mr. Rhea and family visited the cavern there were 829 people who paid admission.

The cave is electrically lighted, but the lights are so arranged that they cannot be seen, yet they beautifully light up the wonderful cavern.

Rotarian Rhea is a splendid public speaker and his description of this cave was intensely interesting and informative.

Visitors of the Day.
D. Marvin Abernathy, secretary of the chamber of commerce, Longview, Texas and a Rotarian; J. M. (Mills) Forsyth, a Rotarian of Temple, Texas; C. M. Cooper, manager of the big J. C. Penney company store at McKinney, guest of O. A. Reese; County Commissioner Don O. Davis, guest of Hardy Eubanks; Miss Sara Abernathy, guest of Bolivar Tidwell.

A Feast.
Mrs. S. F. Cook was chairman of the group of ladies of the First Christian church, who served the magnificent dinner for the Rotarians in the new educational building of that church.

Wendell (Pete) Moseley, a 1929 Boyd High school graduate of this city, left Sunday afternoon for Shreveport, La., to enter Centenary college, of which Dr. George Sexton is president. Pete is a son of Prof. J. W. Moseley, former county superintendent of schools. He made a good student, and was an outstanding athlete, an extra-good football and baseball player on the McKinney team. Pete is not afraid to work, being industrious as well as studious, and an ambitious athlete. He will largely work his way through college, and we predict will take a leading place in athletics in that noted old Methodist educational institution of Louisiana, which a great many Texas boys and girls are attending. Pete was assistant secretary of the First Methodist Sunday

MR. AND MRS. C. S. WEAVER ENTERTAIN VISITORS.

Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Weaver had as their guests recently Mr. and Mrs. John Reinhardt of Monterey, Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Miller of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Reinhardt also visited often in the Weaver home and has many friends here who attended Rice institute in Houston with him. He has been since connected with the American Refining and Smelting company in Monterey, Mexico, for the past six years.

Mrs. Miller has also been a frequent visitor with the Weavers. She was Miss Marye Garner before her recent marriage and was the national secretary of young women's organizations among the Disciples of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are planning to spend the winter in T. C. U., where Mrs. Miller is a member of the faculty, and Mr. Miller will take some special work in the theological department. He holds a pastorate at Cooper, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith spent Sunday in Tioiga.

Mrs. Deanie Smith and Miss Jack Burrow are visitors in Dallas Wednesday.

FORMAL OPENING CARR'S APPAREL SHOPPE IN CITY

One of McKinney's newest enterprises opened formally on Monday night. I. P. Carr, manager and owner with his charming wife and young son, Richard Carr, came to McKinney from Ennis. Their up-to-date apparel shop is located in Mrs. Garrett's building on West Virginia street. The building was remodeled inside and out in the last design for the displaying of milady's garments.

Carr's Apparel Shoppe caters especially to the ladies. They have lovely dresses, coats, hats, underthings and hose. However, on Monday the shop was honored with many interested gentlemen, who wanted to know where their wives and daughters might buy in the latest latest up-to-date wearing apparel.

The Carrs were recipients of numerous telegrams of congratulations, the following one being from the president of the chamber of commerce of Ennis: "Regret inability to be present at opening. Wish you much prosperity. McKinney is to be congratulated on acquiring folks, who gave invaluable service to Ennis. We remember your services as director of chamber of commerce, president of the Lions club, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, and Mrs. Carr who was superintendent of primary department, vice-president of the auxiliary and president of the Delphians. McKinney's gain—Ennis' loss."

New Interest Is Being Taken In Oil In Collin

We were given a pleasant surprise Tuesday morning when our good old time friend and neighbor, Prof. J. T. Bell, dropped in on us. Bro. Bell has been in very poor health for the past two years but is slowly recovering his strength we are glad to note. As usual, he was talking "oil." He is the real "oil scout of Collin county," for he has studied the question and knows what he is talking about. First he has the education which enabled him to understand. And furthermore he has always been interested in the question. His son, Claud Bell is now one of the prominent drillers of the state and has "brought in" many wells. Thus the Professor has had every opportunity to know oil. He owns a fine little farm a few miles northeast of McKinney, on which an oil well was drilled several years ago. The showings were fine and Mr. Bell was bitterly disappointed at the treatment he received. He has never for a moment wavered in his belief that there is oil in that section and that there is oil at the bottom of the well that was drilled on his place. And there are hundreds who agree with him. Recently he went over to his farm in company with Former Tax Collector Ed Brown, and County Treasurer Ed Kerby, and they inspected the vicinity. Both Mr. Brown and Mr. Kerby have had experience in the oil game. Mr. Bell found oil seepages along the creek and brought in water on which this seepage was found and has made scientific tests. He found it just as he always found—with oil showings of finest kind. He showed us several bottles Tuesday containing samples of his tests. There is no doubt in our mind that Collin county is the oil belt and that when the time is "ripe" the drills will be started and oil will flow. But there is a power behind the scenes that will regulate the proceedings. Until that "power" gets ready no oil well will be permitted to "come in."

Those who have seen proper to treat Professor Bell's statements lightly as to the matter may sometimes wish they had given them more consideration.—McKinney Examiner.

About Revising the Pension Law

By R. C. Horn.
If the Legislature meets to revise our pension law I hope that they will do better than they did in their previous efforts. I am a Confederate veteran and a pensioner, but do not wish to be a party in robbing widows of their just dues. If the money in the fund will not pay all in full pay each one his or her part. The age limit for a widow who married a veteran and cared for him twenty-five years should be sixty years if she is indigent and a worthy citizen.

The indigent law should be defined so as to be just. As the present law is interpreted by the Comptroller many really needy persons are refused a pension. The present law defines an indigent person to be a veteran or a widow who may own $1,000 worth of property and a home taxed not to exceed $2,000 and $200 income. The law says nothing of the kind of property, real estate or money. A home alone is not an asset but a liability. It has to be kept in repair and taxes paid each year unless part or all is rented for money. It pays nothing. Now if each of these items is taken separately as is done by the Comptroller, a veteran or a widow may have no home but own property rented for taxes at $1050 and the pension is not an indigent person. In the first case a person with a $2000 home $1000 other property and $200 gets a pension. This gives him or her $600 a year besides his or her home and other property valued at $1000. Under our present law a retired minister who has neither home nor other property but is paid an annuity of $350 by his church is denied a pension though the veteran served through the entire war and received "severe wounds." Is such a law just? An indigent person must be destitute, or needy. Property must be an asset to be of value. If it is a liability the higher its value for taxes the less its profit to its owner.

It is becoming more difficult each year to prove the record of a dead Confederate veteran by his widow. It is a rare case that you find two men who soldiered together. The records in the War Department are incomplete. At the close of the war many of the Army of the South left for their respective homes without waiting for a discharge. I waited for mine and have it in a frame in my hall. If a man has reliable evidence from his neighbors or his camp that he was a good soldier and has been a law abiding citizen it should suffice. These old men and women are not to be among the living much longer and if the State is going to show any appreciation of their lives of service the time is here. It is evident that to pay them each month (as law requires) in full money must be borrowed from the general fund to be returned when a surplus in the pension fund has accumulated. This will not be but a few years.

Miss Gertrude Gibson left Sunday for Waco, where she will enter Baylor university. Miss Gibson is a junior.

Miss Janet Largent left Monday for Fort Worth, where she will be a second-year student at T. C. U. Miss Largent attended there last year.

Mrs. J. C. White, who lives three miles southwest of Blue Ridge, was operated on in Dr. E. L. Burton's sanitarium, in this city, Wednesday morning, for a serious ear infection. She was greatly relieved and hopes to continue to rapidly improve. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dunn, a highly esteemed couple of early settlers of near Verona.

Oxford's Lady Nellie Bly 480269, a purebred Jersey cow owned by A. C. and Guy Spruill of Farmersville, Texas, has completed an official production test in which she yielded 459.61 lbs. of butterfat and 8,995 lbs. of milk in 365 days. Lady Nellie Bly was started on this test when she was 9 years and 3 months of age and with this record qualified for the register of merit of the American Jersey Cattle club. Her sire is Oxford Senter and her dam is Bolivia's Nellie Bly.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Owens and three children of Sargo, Neb., have arrived in McKinney to spend several days visiting relatives. Mrs. Owens is a sister of Mrs. Roy Raper, Mrs. Rosie Hensley and Miss Florence McRiv, all of this city. She formerly made her home in McKinney.

ARMY OF FIVE HUNDRED WORKING ON RACE COURSE

An army of five hundred workmen is rushing to completion a score of additional buildings at W. T. Waggoner's Three D's Stock farm located near here, in order that the grounds may be ready for the race meet to be held November 8th to 16th. An additional grandstand is under erection, which, with the existing one, will provide a total comfortable seating capacity of at least 10,000 people; and assurances have been received from the owners of many of the finest thoroughbred horses in the United States, that their strings will be present, which insures the success of this meet. Purses of at least $70,000, and probably as much as $100,000 will be offered for the contesting horses.

Always Loved Good Horses.

W. T. Waggoner has always raised good horses; his chief purpose is to encourage the breeding of good horses in Texas and reinstate Texas in its old position of being one of the best horse breeding states of the whole country. He has raised some of the fastest and best horses on his ranch, and believes that Texas as soil will produce better horses than any state in the union.

Father and Two Sons.

This is purely a private venture sponsored by Mr. Waggoner and his two sons, Guy and Paul, for the development of the horse breeding industry in Texas. That Texas-bred horses are famous for stamina, endurance and all those qualities that go to make up a valuable horse, is well illustrated in the fact that after Germany had entered the World war, and before we had, German officers were sent to Texas for the purpose of buying cavalry horses. This is well proved in the fact that the French government during the World war conducted the racing of horses on tracks with enclosed walls, so that through contests of speed thoroughbred sires could be developed and the superior ones thus ascertained. The Remount service of the United States army is and for some time past has been distributing in a limited way in Texas, thoroughbred sires for free service in order to promote breeding of horses in Texas with thoroughbred blood, to the end that suitable cavalry horses may be obtainable.

Immense Waggoner Holdings.

The Waggoner holdings include a North Texas cow ranch of more than 500,000 acres, on which are located more than 1,100 producing oil wells, this land having been acquired by Mr. Waggoner for ranch purposes more than forty years ago.

The Waggoners above everything else are stockmen, with a sincere love not only for fine cattle, but for fine horses as well.

Texas Has Ideal Advantages.

W. T. Waggoner years ago made up his mind that Texas was an ideal breeding ground for good horses. He argues that farmers can raise a few fine-bred colts and make more net money per annum by far, with practically no added cost, than they can by raising cotton. Also that Texas is the greatest place in the world for the winter training in Texas in winter, rather than Cuba, Mexico and Florida, which would result in finding an additional market for food raised by farmers, and bring lots of money into Texas.

Polo Ponies and Race Horses.

Mr. Waggoner has raised some of the best polo ponies in the world, that have been sold in the North and East at fancy prices, and on his ranch in the vicinity of Electra, Texas, he has raised some of the best and fastest race horses that have made reputations in the North and East.

300 Acres at Arlington.

Several years ago the Waggoners decided on a new venture. Near the town of Electra they constructed stables for thoroughbred horses and there developed some of the best running stock of the country. More recently they abandoned their breeding farms at Electra and purchased 3,000 acres of the very best land in Texas, located near Arlington and mid-way between Fort Worth and Dallas, which they have now improved to the point of very highest development; and it can be easily said that it is one of the most complete horse breeding farms in the United States. Since they acquired this body of land between the large and growing cities of Fort Worth and Dallas—these cities alone having an aggregate population of 450,000 to 500,000—they have carried on a continuing program of building and improvement; deep wells were drilled and a complete and unlimited supply of artesian water has been obtained; there are sewer, gas, and electric light systems. Other improvements now in progress are an additional grandstand, a large club house, a secretary's building, a paddock, training barn—one of the most complete of the country, and twelve separate stables that will accommodate at least 350 visiting horses. The track layout is of the finest and best in the United States; it consists of a mile track and a separate mile and a quarter track.

Owens Great Horses.

The 100,000 imported English Phalaros is the head stud of the Three D's farm; Vermajo, one of the Waggoner horses, won the New Orleans handicap last February, which carried a solid gold cup of a cost of $2,500 and this horse received at that race more than $33,000 in purses. My Dandy, sired by Porte Drapeau, another stud of the Three D's farm, took the $25,000 purse in the Handicap in Chicago, August 8, this year. Mr. Waggoner is the owner of more than 50 of the most valuable wellbred and famous thoroughbred brood mares of the country.

Race Meet Nov. 6.

Aside from the large investment in the best horses that could be obtained both in this country and abroad, the Waggoners have spent and are spending large amounts for land, buildings, and improvements, all of which will be completed prior to the race meet, November 6, this year. The elder Waggoner believes that in time, at least, the raising of horses such as these, in Texas can be made to pay. He is probably right in his belief.

W. T. Waggoner is one of the sturdy, outstanding men of the Southwest, and his great patriotism for the development of his native state is well exemplified in the effort he is thus making to demonstrate that the breeding of fine horses in Texas is an industry of great value to the state. Thoroughbred horses cannot be developed, the outstanding ones cannot be found out, their qualities of stamina and endurance cannot be known, except through the means of contests in racing, and this is one of the prominent reasons that has influenced Mr. Waggoner in the making of the large expenditures for the most perfect and elaborate race course in the United States.

Famous Horses Will Be in Texas.

In the November races many famous horses from the other states will run. The owners are already reserving stable space and are preparing to make entries. These races are open to the public, and they will be attended by people from all parts of Texas, and a number of other states. The laws of Texas do not permit betting or book-making on races, and these laws will be rigidly observed. Neither betting or book-making will be permitted.

Mrs. Blanche Braswell, who has been a patient in the City hospital the past three weeks, has been removed to the home of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Goggins, 506 Poote street. She is gradually improving.

C. W. Wagner of Melissa was a business visitor in our city Wednesday morning. Mr. Wagner is using our classified columns in advertising a house and lot he has for sale in McKinney.

THE ROMANCE OF TIME BY B. TIDWELL

B. Tidwell, owner of a well-stocked McKinney jewelry store, delivered the following brief classification talk recently before the Rotary club. It gives the origin of the clock and the watch and traces their development:

For nineteen years I have studied seriously the retail jewelry business, watches, clocks and various time-keeping devices, and my speech today shall be called:

"The Romance of Time."

Benjamin Franklin has said that time is more than money. Time is life, time is the very stuff that life is made of. To trace the history of time is only to trace the history of the human race. For all ages man has tried to measure time in some way. Every time an infant is born into the world we have a picture of time. The first few days are only a series of light and darkness, then gradually there comes the perception of day and night. The first year is the longest the child will ever have and after that, time flies faster and faster. In fact, there is two kinds of time: One for the mind or soul of man and the other the kind we measure with our watches.

First Measurement of Time.

The first measurements of time dates back to 4000 before Christ when the old priests of Babylon studied the moon and stars and worked out a thirteen-month year calendar, having four equal weeks to the month, and how much trouble would have been saved if Julius and Augustus Caesar had not changed this calendar. Today it is proposed to return to the thirteen-month calendar.

One of the first measurements of time was when man noticed a shadow cast by a rock on the ground. Then in the eighth century B. C. there is the Dial of Abaz mentioned in the Bible. This was a flight of steps on which the light traveled, and thus gave the people the time.

First Alarm Clock.

The Chinese in the early days measured time by means of a rope with knots tied at intervals. They would light the rope and its smoldering would then give them the time. It is said that a Chinaman desiring to arise early in the morning would place the rope between his toes and when it got hot it would awaken him. Thus, we have the first alarm clock.

The Sun Dial.

Then we come to the time of the sun dial. This was a great step in advance of all previous methods of measuring time. In the days of the Roman empire the sun dial was developed to a great extent. Yet in those days it was criticized and hated. Men tried to do away with them because they brought about a certain amount of measured regularity. One disadvantage of the sun dial was that it was useless on dull or cloudy days and at night.

The Water Clock.

Our next time-keeper was the water clock. This had the advantage that it could be used twenty-four hours a day. It was nothing more than a bowl marked with a scale and a small hole in the bottom, from which the water dropped, and by the scale the lapse of time was indicated. These were engraved and embellished until they became works of art. The water clock, however, had this disadvantage that in the winter the water would freeze and the clock would stop.

Sand Glasses.

Sand glasses were used in the sixteenth century in the churches of England to time the sermon. It is interesting to know that the knots per hour we speak of when measuring on the sea were established by means of a sand glass and a rope with knots tied in it at stated intervals. These knots passed through the hands of the sailors and were counted so many per minute, thus giving the speed of the ship. For many years the Bell Telephone company timed its long distance calls by means of a sand glass, and even today in the British house of parliament divisions are timed by this antiquated method.

First Real Clock 900 A. D.

Now came the dark ages after the fall of Rome—the age of the barbarians when the embers of the old civilization were kept burning only in the sheltered houses of the monks. And out of this came our next development when Gerbert, the monk, made the first real clock. This was about 900 years after the birth of Christ, and cumbersome though it was, it ran and kept good time and started the world. His idea took hold and before long there were clocks in all the principal cathedrals. The first clock struck the hours on a bell instead of indicating time by means of a dial and hands.

Galileo's Discovery.

In 1581, Galileo, a 17-year-old boy, discovered the principle of the pendulum from a swinging lamp in the Cathedral of Pisa, and was able to prove the accuracy of this method of measuring time by counting the pulse beats in his own wrist. It was eighty years later, however, before this principle was practically applied in the making of clocks.

Origin of the Watch.

While a clock was all right in a stationary position, it, of course, could not be carried, so we come to our next development, the watch. The name was derived from a watchman crying the time at night. The watch was made possible when in 1500 the mainspring was invented. Then about 1511 Peter Henlein made the first watches in Nuremberg. They were large in size and oval in shape and were called Nuremberg eggs. They were remarkable examples of workmanship, but very poor timekeepers. The hair-spring, it is interesting to note, was so named because the first springs for control of the balance wheel were made of a bristle from a hog's back.

Measuring Longitude at Sea.

As commerce developed in the world it became necessary to devise some way to measure longitude at sea. The stars and the compass could give the mariner his direction, but he had no way of knowing his position. In 1703 a fleet of ships were lost in a fog for eight days with only an half-hour sand glass for measuring time. When the sun finally came out they discovered that their time reckoning was eleven hours out.

Ships' chronometers were our next development and proved a great step towards making travel safe on the sea.

From 1800.

From the year 1800 on we notice a gradual development of production, which made it possible for more people to own clocks and watches. The story of the Swiss watch industry is very interesting, but we have to turn to America for the greatest development of large scale production.

Made Wooden Clock in 1800.

In 1800 Eli Terry made wooden clocks by hand. Before he died he made as many as 10,000 per year. Then in 1837 Chauncey Jerome began making metal wheel clocks by machinery, and soon drove the wooden clocks off the market.

In 1831 Edward Howard and a fellow workman started making watches by machinery and after several years of hard and painstaking work as many as seven watches a day. They were called crazy and it was asked where they could sell so many watches. Yet our factories are making 19,000 watches per day and our imports are 16,500 per day making a total of 35,500 watches our American people are consuming every working day in the year.

Henry Ford a Watchmaker.

The old Waterbury watch with its long winding main spring and later the Ingersoll dollar watch were important steps in making time pieces more popular. Probably few people know that Henry Ford, who was a watchmaker by trade, got his idea of large scale production from the factory of the Ingersoll watch that "made the dollar famous."

OVER 300 HERE FOR SESSIONS ON BOTH DAYS

The two-day Collin county teachers' institute came to a successful close here Friday afternoon.

The institute brought to McKinney over 300 Collin county school teachers, as well as several leading educators of the state.

Friday's program was begun by the devotional being conducted by Dr. C. S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church. The song service was again led by R. C. McLeod, deputy county clerk. There were two speakers preceding the morning recess—Supt. J. W. Akin of Princeton, who spoke on "Community Needs and Betterment," and Dr. H. H. J. Fling of the Commerce teachers' college, who spoke on "Problems of the Adolescent and Teachers."

Following the recess Miss Kitty Billingsley spoke on "Use of the Concrete in Teaching." Dr. Fling spoke on "The Problem Child," while Supt. B. Young of Melissa spoke on "The New Examinations." This afternoon those scheduled on the program included Miss Edna Powers, Dr. Fling, Miss Bonnie Taylor, and Supt. T. P. Carlton of Frisco.

Each teacher attending the institute was urged to bring their own problems up for discussion and to co-operate with all phases of the work and the better development of the life work of the pupils of each community.

Prof. S. C. Stephens, county superintendent, has presided over the two-day session. He expressed himself as being highly elated over the success and achievements of the sessions.

The feature of Thursday's program included an able address by John L. Smith of the State Department of Education of Austin. Trustees of the county as well as the teachers were invited and urged to hear him since he discussed some of the new laws of interest to all.

Two others appearing on Thursday's program included J. R. Musser, superintendent of Prosper school who spoke on the subject "Reading for Comprehension," and Prof. R. F. Hartman, superintendent of Nevada schools. He spoke on "Teaching History." Prof. A. Blackmon of the State Department of Education was another interesting speaker on Friday's program whose address was greatly enjoyed by every listener.

YOUR HOME TOWN

FOREST FIRES SPREAD

FOLKS ARE CURIOS. This fact has been forcibly brought to our attention the past few weeks during the progress of construction on the new buildings—the Pope and the Hill & Bass structures. During the work, scores of our citizens have gathered on the opposite side of the street and carefully watched each move made by workmen in putting the big buildings together.

PUTTING THE BEAMS IN PLACE. Yesterday, while some of the big steel beams were being put in place on the Hill & Bass building, T. H. T. saw interested groups eagerly gazing at the work of putting these huge pieces of steel in their proper places in the edifice. As the big steel beams were slowly lifted and put in its proper locations, those who watched, never for one moment took their gaze from the scene, seemingly oblivious to what else might be happening around them.

BUILDING CHARACTER. This little episode set us to thinking. We are all interested. It seems, in the erection of a big, new building—a building in which few of us have any real personal interest other than civic pride in seeing it erected. We gaze at the progress made on the building, and we breathe sighs of relief as each big steel beam, etc., finds itself in the proper place. But are we, as citizens of McKinney as interested in building of character in our boys and girls as we are in seeing these big bricks put up?

ARE YOU HELPING? The building of the right kind of character in a boy or girl is vastly more important than the erection of a score of brick business buildings. Important as they may be. Do we eagerly watch—and help, when possible—to see that only the right material is put in their lives, so that when they have reached young manhood or young womanhood they have a firm foundation and are constructed of those qualities that will withstand hail, wind, rain or storm? Do you help to justify into these boys and girls the right kind of principles, the proper conception of right and wrong, the desire to be of some service to their fellowman? Moulding the lives of our boys and girls and seeing that only the right kind of ideals and principles and thoughts are instilled into them is a vast job, a job that should have the attention every minute in the day of each and every citizen.

THE JOB BEFORE US. There's the school room, the church, Sunday school, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the home, and various other places where an attempt is made to build the right kind of character in our boys and girls. But, oftentimes, even these are not enough. Some of our children, at least, spend a great part of their time downtown, away from these helpful influences. What do you do and say when around them? What if they are looking to you for an example? When you do something wrong, and they see it, there will be hopes and ideals shattered. You see, it is an important job we have—we older ones—and it is a man's sized job. Watch yourself every minute of the day. You are somebody's ideal. Whatever you do don't do anything that will cause that ideal to be shattered in the mind of some little boy or girl who may be watching you. There is no more important work than to make the right kind of men and women out of our boys and girls.

OCTOBER 7, 8, 9 AND 10. Folks, we're not talking the fair up as we should. It's less than a month away and every time we meet anyone we should mention our county fair. Ask them if they're coming? Then tell them the dates—October 7, 8, 9 and 10. Tell them the many features of our big county-wide exposition. Explain to them that it is free—the biggest free county fair in the state. Describe to them the vast work coming under the supervision of Mrs. J. Ed McGee, Collin county home demonstration agent, and how many fine community exhibits you will find here. Tell them about the fine live stock that will be here and of the horse and pony show one night during the event. Tell them of the amusement company that is coming—one of the biggest carnival attractions ever coming here. There are scores and scores of reasons why you and your friends should be at our fair. It is your fair, our fair—everybody's fair. Plan to be here all four days and nights of the big event.

W. C. Dysart, of near Melissa, states that his Lankart big boll cotton is making about one-half bale per acre this year. Mr. Dysart says that he is mighty well pleased with it and only wishes that he had more of the cotton on his place.

Report French Move Into Rhineland

COMMANDER-OF BRITISH TROOPS ORDERED HOME

COMPLICATIONS ARISE OVER EVACUATION OF GERMAN TERRITORY

London, Sept. 16.—Sir William Thwaites, commander of the British troops in the Rhineland, has been urgently summoned to London to confer with Secretary of War Tom Shaw and possibly with Prime Minister MacDonald as the result of new complications in connection with the evacuation of the occupied German territory of the Wiesbaden corridor, which is being evacuated by the British, were highly indignant over announcement that at least two French regiments will enter the territory as soon as the British have left.

The first British troops to return to home soil was a detachment of sixty men who landed at Dover.

ALL OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS ARE DEFEATED SATURDAY

By a decisive vote of almost 2 to 1, or more, the three special tax amendments for the United Charities, McKinney Municipal band and McKinney Public Library were defeated in a special election held Saturday at the city hall.

A total of 507 votes were cast. Shortly after the polls closed at 7 o'clock the results were announced by Judge T. C. Andrews. Judge Andrews was assisted in holding the election by Messrs J. A. Garrison, T. A. Porter, Ed S. Brown and M. M. Braswell.

The two other amendments voted on—in regard to selections of a city depository once in two years instead of one year and the delinquent tax proposition—were also both defeated, by narrower margins.

The mayor and city commissioners believe that had the voters authorized the amending of Section 179 of Article 2 of the present city charter enabling them to select a city depository once in two years instead of only each year, as at the present, that a better contract possibly could have been entered into with the bank that would have probably netted the city treasury more funds each year in the way of interest collected on daily balances and various city funds carried on deposit by the bank. But the voters were bent on swatting all amendments, regardless of the beneficiary—even if it happened to be their own pocketbook.

Complete Vote.

The complete vote in the five amendments to the city charter follows:

Shall Section 179 of Article 2 of the present charter of the city of McKinney be amended so as hereafter to provide for the selection of a city depository once in each two years instead of once each year as at present?

Yes, 241.
No, 250.

Shall Article 2 of the present charter of the city of McKinney be amended by adding thereto Section 10a so as to provide for the levy of an annual tax not to exceed three cents on each $100.00 valuation of taxable property in said city to be used for the establishment and maintenance of a municipal band.

Yes, 130.
No, 359.

Shall Article 2 of the present charter of the city of McKinney be amended by adding thereto Section 10b so as to provide for the levy of an annual tax not to exceed five cents on each $100 valuation of taxable property in said city to be used in establishing and maintaining a public charities department?

Yes, 168.
No, 331.

Shall Article 2 of the present charter of the city of McKinney be amended by adding thereto Section 10c so as to provide for the levy of an annual tax not to exceed five cents on each $100 valuation of taxable property in said city to be used in establishing and maintaining a public charities department?

Yes, 145.
No, 346.

Shall Article 2 of the present charter of the city of McKinney be amended by adding thereto Section 10-d providing that delinquent taxes due the city bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum?

Yes, 198.
No, 282.

MISS GRANBERRY BECOMES BRIDE OF CHOICE TRAVILLION

Friends in this city were given a pleasant surprise to learn of the marriage of Choice Travillion, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Travillion, to Miss Mae Granberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Granberry, both of this city.

The marriage took place Tuesday night at 7:30 at the First Methodist church in Dallas. Rev. Otto B. Norris officiating. The newlyweds returned to McKinney, where they will reside in the future.

The bride has resided here for the past two or three years, on South Tennessee street. Her father, C. M. Granberry, has been serving as the manager of Dobson & Co. store until recently, when he resigned. She is a most attractive and beautiful young lady, whose natural grace and charm endears her to every acquaintance. She attended the public schools in Dallas.

The groom is well known to a host of McKinney friends and acquaintances. He met his bride while working at Dobson & Co. store, when the Granberry family moved here, and the bride's father assumed the management of the store. Their friendship ripened into love and their courtship has been a continuous one since they met each other. The groom received his education in the McKinney public schools. He is now holding a responsible position with Knott's bakery in this city.

These editors join with the many other friends of this well-known McKinney couple in wishing for them all the possible health, happiness and success possible in their journey through life together.

HIGH IDEALS AND PRACTICAL PURPOSES HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS OF COLLIN COUNTY

MRS. J. ED MCGEE COUNTY AGENT HAS GUIDED DEVELOPMENT RURAL WOMEN CLUB WORK TO A WONDERFUL DEGREE—IMPORTANT FACTOR IN MAKING COUNTY FAIR SUCCESS EVERY YEAR.

Mrs. J. Ed McGee and her home demonstration clubs have had a large part in making our annual Collin County fair a success during the eleven annual expositions heretofore given. President A. M. Scott is counting on the same co-operation again this year from Mrs. McGee's clubs, with renewed energy and spirit.

Mrs. McGee has had a wonderful career in developing home demonstration club interest during the years that she has led the work in this county. She has about forty women and girls' farm clubs in the county. Their meetings are so arranged that Mrs. McGee can visit them regularly in order, for the purpose of instruction and giving demonstrations.

Aims of Demonstration Clubs.

The primary aims of the home demonstration clubs of Collin county are:

To stimulate interest in home making; to increase appreciation for home life; to develop ideals of true economy and thrift through systematic conservation and elimination of needless waste; to encourage home industries through gardening, poultry raising and dairying; to maintain home sanitation and health; to encourage the wise use of leisure time, to develop leadership for community life. In a word, to develop in rural women and girls a new enjoyment and satisfaction, that we may find in our home environment and community life more happiness.

Specific Aims.

1. To have each member to improve her home in some way, both on the inside and out.
2. To have every club member serve on the program during the year.
3. To have every club member present and take part in the Collin County fair in October.
4. To have a representative from every club at the A. & M. Short course in July of each year.
5. To have an entry in every division of the Dallas State Fair prize list for women's home demonstration clubs.

REPORT CINDERS BLOWN AS FAR AS 30 MILES

PORLAND SHOWERED WITH DEBRIS FROM BIG BLAZE

Portland, Ore., Sept. 16.—There still was no relief in sight for the Pacific Northwest as two large forest fires rapidly spread over ever increasing areas today.

The La Dee fire on the slopes of Mount Hood is spreading up the Roaring River canyon and through there are 210 men fighting it there seems to be no immediate chance of their getting it under control.

The fire was burning with such fierceness that Portland was practically covered with a nice coating of cinders which had been carried here by a 30-mile-an-hour wind.

The Dole fire, which has been burning in the Dole valley since Aug. 4, was also spreading rapidly.

We are grateful to the colleges and universities for making possible extension work, whereby teachers may better qualify themselves for their work.

The rural aid and high school tuition laws have served a worthy purpose and we beg for a continuation of each.

We urge that the districts not having a 50-cent school tax vote the same in order that the pupils of those districts may get the benefits of the above laws.

Loans On Cotton Made Available

Washington, D. C.—Financial advances equal to 90 per cent of the fixed value of the crop will be available to cotton co-operative associations of the South to assist in the movement of this year's crop, the Federal Farm Board announced recently. The co-operative associations, the announcement explained, now are able to obtain loans from the Federal Intermediate Credit banks to the amount of 65 per cent of the value of cotton. The Farm Board proposes to make an additional loan of 25 per cent, or an aggregate loan of 90 per cent, on cotton on which a definite value has been fixed by hedging in the futures market. The loans will be made from the $150,000,000 revolving fund placed at the disposal of the board. H. Carl Williams, member of the board, declared orally that the board will "so far as they (the cotton growers) want to go on the basis agreed upon." He said that if they could get cotton enough to use $25,000,000 of the board's funds, it will be available. "The arrangement will meet the needs of the growers and at the same time permit the associations to market the cotton as spinners and consumers need it," he declared. "It is just exactly what the cotton growers wanted."

FATHER REV. ROY L. PATTON DIES AT HOME IN ANTELOPE

McKinney friends will learn with much regret the death of the father of Rev. Roy L. Patton, pastor of the South Wilcox Methodist church, which occurred at 3 o'clock Sunday morning at his late home in Antelope, Texas. He was 59 years old. Rev. Patton was at his father's bedside when the end came. Mrs. Patton left immediately for Antelope on receipt of the sad message.

Another son of the deceased, Rev. Earl J. Patton, pastor of the Plano Methodist church, had been attending his father's bedside, but had just returned home to begin a revival meeting. He left immediately with his wife and Henry Bowman, also of Plano, for Antelope when he learned of his father's death.

The father of these two well-known Methodist ministers of the gospel had been ill for some time. Funeral services for the deceased were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

ALFALFA YIELD OVER TON TO ACRE

Plainview, Sept. 14.—Thirty acres of alfalfa, belonging to the Texas Land and Development Company at Plainview, produced more than a ton to the acre on one cutting and will produce $50 an acre during this year.

The 30 acres produced 69,855 pounds of hay, an average per acre of 2,328 pounds. It was sold for an average of $18 per ton. This was the third cutting this season and the hay was cut 32 days after the second cutting.

Fred Lowe has the general supervision of the farm and Ross Hart is responsible for its irrigation and culture. The patch was watered twice, and both irrigations cost about $1 per acre. Natural gas is used for fuel. Lowe says that the alfalfa will be cut four times this year and each cutting will yield approximately the same amount of hay, each crop being worth about $20 an acre on the average, and each acre yielding in a year's time about $80. In addition to the hay cut, the alfalfa patch was grazed in the winter and early spring.

FIELD SEED LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

Austin, Texas, Sept. 13.—Preparations are being made by the Department of Agriculture to enforce the field seed certification law, which was extended by the Legislature to cover grain sorghum seed, it was announced Wednesday.

Only seed from experiment station stock will be certified this year. All seed for certification will be placed under a two-year observation period before certification. Heretofore the department has not kept check on grain sorghum seed and can not determine the quality except by a two-year observation period.

F. D. PERKINS UNDERGOES MAJOR OPERATION MONDAY

F. Dudley Perkins, one of our city's most prominent and widely known business men and civic leaders, submitted to a major surgical operation in the City hospital at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. He stood the ordeal well and his condition at press hour is regarded as being favorable as could be expected for his steady improvement.

Mr. Perkins had been confined to his home by illness for nearly a week. An X-ray examination Sunday revealed the necessity of a surgical operation. The multitude of friends of Mr. Perkins are deeply concerned about his early recovery and restoration to his former health and strength again. He is one of our most influential and useful citizens, whose friends are legion over the state.

FIELD SEED LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

The McKinney Volunteer Fire department answered a call about 1:45 o'clock this afternoon to Dorsey Bros. cotton office on the east side of the public square, where a small blaze broke out. Chemicals were used to extinguish the flames. No serious damage was done. Joe and Ed Dorsey are members of this McKinney cotton firm.

MORGAN DELIVERS FORCEFUL SERMONS FIRST METHODIST

Dealing with right living toward yourself, your fellow man and your God and asserting that his slogan was "Learning to Live," Rev. J. Ed Morgan, evangelist from Texarkana, delivered a forceful message to a large congregation at the First Methodist church Sunday morning as the two weeks' revival at that church got off to a splendid beginning.

"Love in our hearts will give us the right attitude in life," he declared.

He delivered another fine message at the evening hour.

"All you have you have received," he asserted. "What are you going to do with it? Resolve now to give to the Lord your heart and service. Then, as you grow older, you will grow in grace. If you have friends, show yourself friendly. This is God's house. Welcome all those who come within. As God gives to you, give back to others. Think of the life God would have us live. We must give full measure if he expect the blessing of God to be returned to us in full measure. Be fair, honest and friendly. An honest man and a virtuous woman are the most wonderful things in the world."

"Bearing religious requires all of our time and not an hour or two a day or week. Judge not that ye be not judged."

He urged his hearers to give their full measure to the revival just beginning; and then will God, in return, give them many blessings.

At the conclusion of the morning service, the pastor, Rev. J. A. Old, announced the names of eleven new members who had come into the church, transfers from churches at other places.

STATE UNIVERSITY STUDENT THESIS ON THROCKMORTON

Claude Elliott, 229 W. Hutchinson, San Marcos, Texas, and wife, have returned home again after spending two or three days in McKinney.

Mr. Elliott is a student of the State University of Texas, who is working on his master's thesis, the subject of which is "The Biography and Career of the Late Gov. James W. Throckmorton."

Mr. Elliott came to McKinney to consult the files of the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette and other current and old Collin county newspapers that might be accessible to him and also to consult the series of Collin county scrap-books that Walter B. Wilson has compiled for data on our county's most distinguished citizen and highest public official.

Mr. Elliott also went to Sherman on a short visit to confer with Ernest J. Parker on the same mission. Mr. Elliott expects to be engaged on his thesis for a year or longer yet.

So far as he has discovered, no printed biography on Throckmorton has ever been issued in book form, and therefore the results of his study and research on the life of this distinguished Texas patriot, Confederate general, governor and national lawmaker is fraught with no little degree of interest to the people of the state in general and of Collin county in particular, where he made his home and where his remains repose under a stately granite shaft, erected to his memory in beautiful Pecan Grove cemetery.

Plano Methodist Revival Begins

Editor Arthur A. Bagwell of the Plano Star-Courier was a business visitor in McKinney Monday morning. While in our office, he informed these editors that the Methodist revival got off to a successful start in that South Collin city Sunday morning.

Complaints were filed here Monday morning by County Attorney J. E. Abernathy in county court against Roy L. Brockman, manager of the R. & R. Ritz and Pope theaters and against Eddie Nix, operator at the Ritz, for operating a moving picture show in this city Sunday, Sept. 15.

Manager Brockman was convicted and fined $25.00 and court costs here last week in justice of the peace court for operating a show Sunday, Sept. 8. The case was appealed to county court.

Since County Attorney Abernathy announced that the Sunday law would be vigorously enforced, practically everything in a business way was at a standstill Sunday. Several of the restaurants and cafes also closed for the day. Local garages and filling stations closed, although the law permits them to sell gasoline and oil, but forbids them to sell accessories or do any kind of repair work. Drug stores and confectioneries were all closed.

The law applies to all parts of Collin county, as well as to McKinney, and reports from Farmersville, Plano and other towns over the county state that practically all business activities were closed all day Sunday.

County Attorney Abernathy said Monday that Mr. Brockman's case would likely come up for trial within the next two or three weeks.

J. E. DICKENSON POPULAR MELISSA BUSINESS MAN

J. E. Dickenson, the Melissa cash groceryman, places an order for some printed letter heads with the job printing department of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette. Three or four weeks ago Mr. Dickenson had the misfortune of losing his store by fire, but has rebuilt and restocked with a fresh line of goods and also has bought the stock of a competitor. As a result Mr. Dickenson is now better prepared than ever to please his customers in both prices and quality.

Mr. Dickenson is one of the finest citizens of our county, and a successful business man. It is always a pleasure to have business dealings with such a man.

THINKS COLLIN HAS THE BEST COTTON CROP

Joe E. Largent, who with Mrs. Largent, recently returned from their summer stay in Colorado, states that Collin county undoubtedly has the best cotton that he saw anywhere on his long motor trip. According to his estimate, the county will make around 75,000 bales this year, which is slightly above the 1928 yield. Mr. Largent owns several good farms around McKinney, and is in close touch with the general cotton situation.

He says that hundreds of additional cotton pickers are badly needed in the county at the present time. Cotton fields are white with the fleecy staple ready to be gathered.

AN IMPORTANT NEW STATE LAW ON TRANSFERS

The following important announcement concerning certain rural schools in the county not having as much as 50-cent school tax, has been given out by Prof. Jack R. Ryan, county superintendent of McKinney schools: "The last legislature made it a law that transfer pupils from school districts not having as much as a 50-cent school tax, are not eligible to receive high school tuition from state funds.

"The State Department of Education says that if any districts not having the 50-cent tax, will vote on the proposition and collect its tax this year, its students, who are transfers in high school, will not be forced to pay their own tuition, but that the state will pay it for them."

The reason of the legislature making the law above-mentioned was because some of the schools had lowered their tax rate from 50 cents to as low as 5 cents after the state commenced paying high school tuitions.

About eighty students, from eleven districts in the high school here, would be affected by this new law, should their respective districts vote extra tax at once," so says Prof. Ryan. Immediate steps will have to be taken by these districts in order to meet the conditions of this new state law.

MCKINNEY HOUSE SERVES CUSTOMERS SEVERAL STATES

The commercial job printing department of this paper has printed a large quantity of 4-H club labels for the J. P. Dowell wholesale and retail hardware and furniture establishment of this city.

This big McKinney firm does an extensive mail order business all over Texas and portions of the nearby states of New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Louisiana in the steam pressure cookers and other canning equipment and supplies. Many county agents, farm club women and girls depend on this McKinney firm to supply their needs in labels as well as in other needed equipment just enumerated.

The emblem of the 4-H clubs is the four-leaf clover, with an "H" printed on each of the four leaves, which stand for "head, hand, heart and health." The slogan of these clubs is "To Make the Best Better."

Texas Products to President.

Recently a shipment of fifteen big, neatly executed packages were shipped by Texas 4-H clubs from the A. & M. college to the president of the United States a photo of which the Dowell establishment has. These canned goods were neatly labeled, with such labels as the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette job office had printed for the J. P. Dowell store. The contents of these cans shipped to the president consisted of tomatoes, corn, peas, beans, roast beef, black-eyed peas, spinach, pork sausage, sandwich chicken, chile, pecans, sweet potatoes, soup stock and chili con carne. All these were Texas grown and canned products.

MARRIED 50 YEARS AGO IN MCKINNEY

Today (Thursday), September 12, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Mills, who reside on Leland avenue in this city, have been married for fifty years. Although no special homecoming or family reunion was planned, yet Mr. and Mrs. Mills are receiving many congratulations on their golden wedding anniversary.

"We were married at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of September 12, 1879, in the old City hotel, located where the George W. Smith Tailoring establishment is now located," Mr. Mills told a representative of these papers. The late Squire John D. Page, then justice of the peace, performed the ceremony.

J. H. Wilson, 2927 1/2 Van Buren Place, Los Angeles, Calif., sends renewal cash for the Daily Courier-Gazette. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's old home is here in McKinney, and they say that they both greatly enjoy getting the paper every day with good old Texas home news. Mr. Wilson holds a responsible position in California, where they moved a few months ago.

FUNERAL HELD FOR MRS. DOCIA LAMBDEN SEPT. 7

Funeral services for Mrs. Docia Lambden, who died in Blue Ridge, were held at the Baptist church there Friday afternoon, September 7. The deceased had been in declining health for the past several years and for the past eight months was practically bedfast. Rev. J. R. Hilger of Greenville conducted the impressive services. Interment was made in the Blue Ridge cemetery under the direction of the Wilson & Lamm undertaking establishment of that city. A profusion of beautiful floral offerings covered the new-made mound.

The deceased was born near Blue Ridge in 1879 and was at the time of her death 50 years of age. She lived in Collin county all her life. She was before her marriage, Miss Docia Jeffcoat, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Jeffcoat. In 1903 she was married to A. D. Lambden to which union was born one son. They also reared an orphan boy from infancy.

The deceased is survived by her husband, her son, Garland Lambden and the adopted son, Luther Lambden. She is also survived by one granddaughter, Mary Lou Lambden, and her aged father, J. N. Jeffcoat, of Bennington, Okla., and the following brothers and sisters: J. M. Jeffcoat, of near Blue Ridge; Henry and Odus Jeffcoat, Mrs. Lula Thompson, Mrs. Lucy Roberts and Miss May Jeffcoat, all of Bennington, Okla.

Her aged father, who is 84 years of age, was unable to attend the funeral. The deceased was a saintly mother and a kind neighbor and her passing is deeply mourned by her loved ones and friends. "Although we will miss her, Her life's work is o'er; She is at rest with God, To suffer no more."

CHICKENS AND COOPS FOUND IN AUTO TRUCK

Deputy Sheriff T. W. Franklin and Claude West Thursday night found a truck on the highway between McKinney and Princeton, with two chicken coops, a sack containing five chickens and sixteen other sacks.

The driver of the truck was not apprehended, but the truck was brought to McKinney. It bears a Smith county license number, Tyler being the county seat of that county.

According to Deputy Franklin, reports have been coming into the sheriff's office for the past several months of a truck fitting the description of the one brought here, going over the county and hauling

McKINNEY LIONS HAVE INTERESTING PROGRAM FRIDAY

McKinney Lions club met in session at the First Christian church Wednesday, September 18, and a most sumptuous dinner served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jim Goodner, and several lady ladies.

The menu consisted of fried chicken, fresh black-eyed peas, baked apples, salad, fresh corn, other vegetables with cherry sauce, and a delicious ala mode as dessert. The president, Dowdy, presided. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A resolution was adopted on the motion of Mrs. C. W. Smith to have one copy ordered spread over the minutes of the book, one presented to the family and one to the press. The resolutions adopted are as follows:

Resolved, on the 23rd day of August, 1929, our fellow Lion, Clarence Smith, departed this life. We, the committee submit the following resolutions:

Whereas W. Smith was a native of the city of McKinney, having been born here, where he spent 64 years of his life. He was a man of good qualities, progressive, kind-hearted, careful, and true to his trust.

For the firm name of Smith and his brother, Harry, who built and maintained more than thirty years one of the largest retail drug businesses in Texas. During that period he aided every worthy movement and was noted for his generous spirit and deeds of charity.

secretary of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce for sixteen years. He was always faithful. He was for the good in others, gave the best there was in himself, and endeavored to make this city and community in to live.

He was a man of retiring nature, but the background rather than the lime-light, preferring to do deeds rather than words. He was a charter member of the McKinney Lions club, assisted in its organization, was active in the affairs of the club and seldom missed a meeting.

Therefore be it resolved: That in his going this club lost one of its valued members, the town and community a good citizen and his children a good father.

And: We extend to sorrowing friends our heart-felt sympathy. Friends were legion and his smile and hearty handshake were missed from the walks of not only by the members of the club, but by our citizenship.

Resolved: That we keep fresh in our memory the fact that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this club and a copy sent the press and each of his friends.

Respectfully submitted,
NEWTON J. BURKETT,
ARTHUR T. CHURCH,
J. H. MERRITT,
Committee.

mentioned a number of our county schools affiliated with our schools up to and including the tenth grade.

Prof. Ryan then mentioned in a brief way the help of the school to the city in a civic way. Out of sixty students that went to college from the McKinney schools last year, only two failed. He also commented on the harmony that existed between the faculty, patrons and students. His address was educational and informative and was very much enjoyed by the club members.

Dr. Old then presented Prof. Doe Rollins, the agricultural and vocational teacher of the high school, who spoke briefly along both phases of his work. The outstanding feature of his talk was character building and he stressed the moral side of life that must accompany the well-trained athlete. Prof. Rollins is coach of the McKinney High school this year.

The president presented G. D. Holland of Longview, associated with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, who stressed the many advantages and accomplishments of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. He mentioned the half million dollar savings that the traffic department had accomplished in the last year, citing one specific instance where $100 freight was saved on each car of onions that were shipped out of Farmersville. He also was very high in his praise of Mr. H. W. Stanley, who will be here in November to conduct free of charge under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants' a merchants' institute, in which the whole county is asked to join, this being one of the activities of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce that is outstanding in its work. He concluded his short talk by pledging the co-operation of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce to our city.

Guests of the Day.

F. I. Boggs of Dallas and C. A. Poppleton, manager of Silvers, of this city, guests of Newton J. Burkett; Claude Robinson of Melissa and R. R. Parker of Farmersville, guests of Jim Merritt; G. D. Holland of Longview, guest of C. W. Graves; Jack Ryan, guest of the club.

TREAT SEED BEFORE PLANTING GRAIN CROPS

Pointing out that oats, barley and wheat are all valuable winter pasture crops for live stock and poultry in most parts of Texas as well as serving a very useful purpose as cover crops to hold available plant food in the soil, E. A. Miller, extension agronomist, Texas A. and M. College suggests early sowing of these crops to get the most out of them. Experience has shown, he says, that small grains sowed by the middle of September furnish more grazing than seed sown later.

To get early pasture these crops may be drilled between cotton or corn or grain sorghum rows with a small grain drill, or may be broadcast and then covered by use of a fine tooth one-row cultivator, harrow or other scratcher. Seeding should be thick, at the rate of about ninety pounds per acre, if grazing is desired.

How to Eliminate Smut.

When the crop is to be saved for grain or hay as well, it is advisable, Mr. Miller states, to spray oats, or barley seed with a formaldehyde solution at the rate of one pint of formaldehyde to ten gallons of water to prevent smut. This amount will be enough to treat forty bushels of seed. After spraying, the seed should be shoveled over two or three times, placed in a pile and covered with a wagon sheet for several hours. It may be sowed without further drying.

Wheat smut is controlled by the copper carbonate treatment. The seed is placed in a tight container so arranged that it can be revolved on an axis. From two to three ounces of powdered copper carbonate should be sprinkled on every bushel of seed and thoroughly mixed by revolving the container.

TOTAL OF 11,319 BALES GINNED IN COUNTY IN AUGUST

I. R. Dillow, Collin county cotton statistician, Friday made his first report of the ginnings in this county, as reported by the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, at Washington.

The report shows that 11,319 bales of cotton had been ginned in Collin county prior to Sept. 1—or during the month of August. This is in comparison to the 1,569 bales ginned during August last year.

The dry, hot weather here during July and August is believed to have been the chief reason for the cotton opening so fast this fall.

W. L. MARSHALL WILL HAVE COUNTY FAIR EXHIBITS

W. L. Marshall, a tenant on one of Miss Mary Kennedy's farms at Lone Elm, two miles south of West-on, had some choice peaches in McKinney this week, which he is putting away to keep in good shape for exhibition at the Collin county fair to be held at McKinney next month.

Mr. Marshall also expects to exhibit some millet and other farm products at the county fair October 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Mr. Marshall believes that every farmer should be represented with one or more exhibits at his home county fair. The premiums and cash prizes should stimulate competition, which means more exhibits and, therefore, a much better fair. In proportion to the excellence of the agricultural and farm exhibits of our fair, benefits flowing from this annual exposition will be enjoyed by the farming interests of the county. The better the fair, the more benefits to farmers and farming interests which are the mainstay of all business of our county. All should do like Mr. Marshall and help make our fair a bigger success.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD HEAR LIVELY CONTEST

The County school board held its regular monthly session in County Superintendent S. C. Stephens' office in the courthouse on Wednesday. The members of the board are: Judge T. C. Andrews of McKinney, chairman; Ed Dillard of Farmersville; R. G. Carrell of the Poole community; C. E. Snider of McKinney; Louis Combest of Valdesta and Prof. Stephens, county superintendent, secretary of the board.

This regular session was enlivened by a contest between Prosper and Celina independent school districts over the proposed detachment of a strip of territory amounting to more than 1,300 acres of land from the Prosper district and attaching it to the Celina district.

Judge A. M. Wolford represented the Prosper district, while Attorney W. R. Abernathy represented the Celina district. The matter was deferred to a later call meeting for final consideration and decision.

The transfer of territory from one district to another is made possible under certain conditions by the recent enactment of a law by the state legislature.

BILL OREM AND WIFE OF DALHART VISITING OLD HOME

W. S. Orem and wife of Dalhart, Texas, are spending a few days visiting among their relatives and many old friends in and around McKinney. They have been at Hutchinson, Kans., visiting their son who lives there, and also visiting some of Mrs. Orem's relatives elsewhere in Kansas, and stopped here en route back to their home in the Panhandle portion of the state.

Mr. Orem was born in Dallas and settled in the Lazyneck community of this county when he was only 13 years old. He later married Miss Emma Snider, daughter of the late James Snider.

They moved to West Texas twenty-five years ago, where Mr. Orem bought two sections of land, 1,280 acres, that was already pretty well improved and stocked up with considerable live stock, all for $3,000 cash. The land is located in Moore county, 12 miles north of Dumas; it is real black land, very similar to our Collin county black waxy type of farm land.

Wheat in that section made all the way from 20 to 32 bushels per acre this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Orem came back to McKinney some years ago and built a home on North Church street, where they resided for two or three years, but then decided to return to West Texas again. They are now residing at Dalhart. They are greatly enjoying their visit to their old home in McKinney and mingling among their many relatives and friends once more.

DR. POPE HAS EARLY TURNIP PATCH IN GARDEN

Dr. W. P. Pope, the widely-known McKinney veterinary surgeon, has a fine turnip patch coming on in the garden at his home on North Church street. He sowed them in August and has a good stand up. He says that since the showers have started it has been a fine time for sowing fall turnips. He thinks that every garden and farm should have a turnip patch. Turnips are good feed for live stock as well as wholesome food for humans. The doctor says that this old black waxy land will raise most any product that will grow anywhere else in the South. All it needs is intelligent preparation, sowing, cultivation and industry. When these essentials are met, Collin will grow a wide variety of garden vegetables, truck, berries and fruit, as well as practically all the staple crops indigenous to American climate and soil.

Dr. Pope says to his fellow Collin county citizens, raise more of your own living at home, raise more feed-stuff and more live stock. Then the money you realize from your staple crops will be more in the nature of net profits at the close of the year. Keep out of debt for autos, gasoline and things you can do without. It is all right to go in debt in a safe way in buying a home and in improving it, but not wise to use up your credit in purchasing luxuries and needless purchases that you can just as well get along without.

Ben Morton, a well-known young business man of this city, is again connected in a responsible way with the Linus M. Smith Furniture store in this city. He was formerly with this same establishment for four years. He invites his many friends to visit him.

GOODWILL TRIPS FOR FAIR TO BE MADE SEPT. 23-24

Plans have been perfected for a two-day goodwill trip over the county, according to A. M. Scott, president of the Collin County fair, to be held here Oct. 7, 8, 9, and 10.

The dates for these goodwill trips advertising the fair will be Monday and Tuesday, September 23 and 24. G. G. McAlexander and Ira Anderson have been named general chairman, while Henry W. Warden and Charlie Bryan have been named as a committee to arrange for speakers both days.

The routes have been assigned and everything is in readiness for the trip. The municipal band will go along both days. Many of the local merchants have already signed up to make the trip and from present prospects it looks like all Collin county will learn more about the county fair through these goodwill fair trippers.

TEXAS SENATOR WOULD CHANGE REPORT DATES

Change of date of the first cotton crop reports issued by the United States Department of Agriculture from Aug. 1 to Aug. 15 so that only two weeks will elapse between the first and second report instead of thirty days as now exists will be proposed by United States Senator Connally at the regular session in December. The Senator's proposal will be an amendment to the law governing crop report dates.

"The September last estimate," Senator Connally explained, Wednesday.

day, "is about 700,000 bales below the August estimate. Within thirty days conditions so change as to cause a radical revision of the estimate. Conditions affecting the cotton crop on Aug. 1 are uncertain. Rain or drought, insect and other things may make what appears on Aug. 1 to be a fine crop, into a poor crop on Sept. 1. However, the rose estimate drives cotton prices down. The futures market is affected. Spots decline. With later reduced estimates, the price can not rise to its proper level, because it is held down by the futures market."

Senator Connally declared Aug. 1 was too early upon which to base a cotton crop forecast that is fair to the cotton producer. He believes it is too early for the first estimate because the condition of the crop is subject to too radical a change between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

In proposing the first cotton crop estimate on Aug. 15, Senator Connally explained that on that date conditions are more stable, thus making a more accurate forecast possible.

Grand Saline Salt Mine to Be Ready In Eight Months

Grand Saline, Texas, Sept. 13.—It will require six or eight months longer to have the salt mine, which is being opened by the Morton Salt company of Grand Saline, made ready for operation. It is located on property owned by the company, one and a quarter miles southeast of Grand Saline. Work on the mine did not begin until twelve or fifteen or more test wells had been sunk, averaging from 400 to 600 feet deep.

The mine will be 900 feet deep, with a sixteen-foot shaft. The depth from the surface of the earth to where the salt deposits begin is 212 feet. An idea of how apparently inexhaustible the salt formations are in this part of Van Zandt county is had by recounting the fact that tests made carried the drills through salt strata 1,000 feet deep. Just how much deeper the salt-bearing formations extend is not known, as test beyond the 1,000 foot depth were not made.

A crushing and pulverizing plant, with screens and other equipment, will be built by the Morton Salt company at the mine. The salt taken from the tests made shows a grade of almost 100 per cent pure salt. An expenditure of approximately $500,000 is entailed in getting the mine ready for operation.

Salt wells used by the Morton company at present will continue to be utilized with the opening of the company's big mine near Grand Saline.

Manager C. O. Dixon of the Southwestern Gas and Electric company at Grand Saline announces the completion of a high voltage line from Grand Saline to the mine. This had been used during the construction of the mine, and it will be utilized for electrical energy at the mine when it is completed and made ready for use.

FAMOUS NINTIETH DIVISION REUNION IN OKLAHOMA CITY

The 90th division, one of the most famous that served for the United States over seas during the World war, is eagerly looking forward to a reunion to be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21 and 22, in Oklahoma City.

Post Commander T. W. Franklin of the Jimmie Geigas American Legion post, hands us a letter received by him concerning the forthcoming two-day meeting, which is self-explanatory, and which we are reproducing, as follows:

Mr. Thos. W. Franklin, McKinney Texas.

Dear Sir: Just a little reminder that the 90th Division reunion will be held on Saturday and Sunday, September 21-22, at Oklahoma City. The Oklahoma State fair opens the same date, and you may be able to secure reduced railroad fare.

A good program has been arranged, and there will be plenty "whoopie" for all who attend.

I am in hopes that we will again enjoy the pleasure of having Gen. Henry T. Allen with us at this reunion. In a recent letter from General Allen, he said:

"When one has had the privilege and honor of having been a member of a division which achieved such fighting distinction as the 90th, it would seem that he should be intensely interested in maintaining and strengthening the ties of comradeship developed in France and Germany by actively participating in the association of that division. It should be considered an honor thus to help perpetuate the reputation of a division which the inspector general of the A. E. F. declared was 'The smartest and best trained division of the American Expeditionary Forces.'"

All men of the 90th division who are not now members of the Division association should become members, sending in their check for $3.00 covering dues for 1930 dues. Membership cards will be mailed you upon receipt of check.

Remember the dates, and do your best to be there. Until then au revoir.

W. C. MENTON.

The fact that the above letter describes the heroic activities of the 90th division in the war is pleasing to the many members of that group residing in McKinney and Collin county, a majority of whom were members of that division. Some of the members of the well-known 90th are Post Commander T. W. Franklin, Ed Horricks, King Dunn, Warren Barnes, the late Jimmie Geigas and many others.

Because of the activity of the 90th division, this group was the one chosen to represent the United States in the army of occupation in Germany after the armistice had been signed.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN HONORED BY LIONS OF FARMERSVILLE

Farmersville, though its Lions Club, entertained as its honor guest, Friday Dr. E. L. Burton, McKinney eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist. Reporting the occasion the Farmersville Times says:

DR. AND MRS. BURTON LIONS HONOR GUESTS

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Burton of McKinney, and Mmes. R. E. Phillips and M. K. Millican of this, were honor guests at the Lions Club luncheon today.

The club is inviting these guests because of their fine work in carrying out the Child Welfare program of the Farmersville Lions Club during the past month. To date Dr. Burton has treated and operated on ten children who were carried to him from this community by the Lions Club and Mmes. Phillips and Millican of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

This fine work is the result of the survey made in our schools last spring by Red Cross Nutritionist, Miss Jones, who found many children with physical defects. A later survey by the ladies of the P. T. A. located a number of children whose parents were not able to afford treatment and operations. The Lions Club took up the work and interested Dr. Burton in the matter of giving relief to the afflicted children, and this splendid specialist in eye, ear, nose and throat affections responded quickly with his assistance. Dr. W. C. Wright of this city, member of the Child Welfare Committee of the local Lions Club, has also assisted Dr. Burton in the operations and deserves much credit for his fine work as a member of the committee.

Leslie Shults and Newsome Gay, two graduates of Boyd High school in the spring class, have matriculated in T. C. U.

DR. E. B. FINCHER IS BUILDING UP AMARILLO CHURCH

James (Scotty) Forsyth has returned from attendance upon the annual session of the Dallas presbytery at Clarendon, Texas. He was a delegate from the local First Presbyterian church to that recent presbytery.

Dr. R. L. Cowan, pastor of the local McKinney church, also attended the presbytery and came in home Thursday.

Scotty reports that Dr. Fincher, now of Amarillo, attended the presbytery at Clarendon and sent his love to his many good friends in McKinney and throughout our county. Dr. Fincher's work, during the past year greatly prospered. In fact Scotty says that no church in all the Dallas presbytery has made more growth on a percentage basis than has Dr. Fincher's church during the past year, and its consecrated pastor is more firmly entrenched, if possible, than ever in the love and appreciation of the denomination at large. This good minister was for more than ten years the beloved pastor of the First Presbyterian church at McKinney.

DISTRICT DENTAL SOCIETY MEETS AT VAN ALSTYNE

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Elliott have returned from Van Alstyne, where they attended the Dental society of the 4th Congressional district held there Tuesday. Dr. W. F. Hinds of Dallas had charge of the program, holding a clinic in the afternoon and giving a lecture on crowning and bridges. The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides. Following the program a luncheon was served with Dr. C. J. Hicks of Plano as master of ceremonies. Dr. and Mrs. Elliott were the only McKinney folks to attend. Dr. Eugene Hoard of this city is president of the 4th Congressional district, but was unable to attend on account of illness. Dr. Elliott is a past president of the society in this district.

Wilton W. Cook, dean of men at the North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton, was one of the speakers who appeared before the recent Collin county teachers' institute, which was attended by about 300 teachers from over the county. Prof. Cook, who is also one of the professors of English on the faculty of the N. T. S. T. C., is a brother of Manager W. F. Cook of the Wilcox Lumber company of McKinney and one of our city's widely known citizens and business men.

Dr. R. L. Cowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, has returned from a two weeks trip to Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky, where he spent part of the time visiting relatives and friends and part of the time on church business. At Bristol, Tenn., he met his mother, Mrs. J. C. Cowan of Jacksonville, Fla., who was visiting there. He went to Big Stone Gap, Va., to visit friends and from there to Louisville, Ky., to attend general assembly church work. He returned by way of Clarendon, Texas, where he attended the presbytery held there Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Jas. S. (Scotty) Forsyth, prominent worker in the First Presbyterian church here, also attended the presbytery at Clarendon, who also returned home Thursday.
